

COVID-19 Safety Plan for Outdoor Qigong at Lindsay Park

Risk Assessment:

- Surface transmission via multiple users of washroom over short periods of time.
- Person-to-person transmission via gathering in a group for a long period of time.
- Payment via cash.

Protocols and Measures to Reduce the Risks:

- Participants are encouraged to avoid use of washroom as much as possible. When washroom use is required, one must use hand sanitizer both before and after use. Hand sanitizer will be made available. A sign advising participants of this protocol will be displayed.
- Participants are required to adhere to strict social distancing (minimum two metres apart on all sides) before, during, and after class.
- The instructor will keep an attendance and contact log in case contact tracing information is required.
- Payment by e-transfer via email is acceptable. If paying via cash, the exact amount only is acceptable (no change will be provided) and an open jar will be available for deposit. Participants may pay for more than one class at a time, if desired, to reduce payment transactions.

Policies to Reduce the Risks:

- People who are ill, sneezing, or coughing (for any reason) or who have travelled in the past 14 days are asked to not attend class. People who have been in contact with anyone who is ill, sneezing, or coughing, or who have recently returned from travel, are asked to not attend the class.
- The class instructor will adhere to recommendations and decisions of the City of Powell River in relation to any changes with regard to the safety of using the park for classes. In other words, the classes will continue only if the instructor and the City feel it is safe to do so when the above measures are adhered to.
